Educate me: No Flip Mattresses

NOTHING BUT THE TRUTH

WE WANT TO SHARE THE TRUTH ABOUT NO FLIP MATTRESSES

The no flip feature of most mattresses is promoted today as a great benefit to you, the consumer. The truth is these mattresses are not upholstered on the other side. They are padded on just one-side. It's like getting half a mattress for about the same price, or more. Would you buy half of anything?

Why would manufacturers decide to do such a thing? The answer is surprisingly simple. With the rising cost of labor and materials, the solution someone came up with was to decrease the quantity of the materials used to make the mattress. Now "they" spin their marketing to say that they are making a better product for the consumer called the no flip mattress.

Take it from someone who has seen one of these no flip mattresses torn apart. The very same materials are being used to make both one and two-sided mattress. There are no new "revolutionary" materials in there.

The important question to ask here is whether or not this is really a benefit to you. In our opinion, the manufacturer and retailer have everything to gain here by reducing their costs, but you, the consumer, is short changed. From what we have seen, we simply do not believe that the customer has anything to gain from a one-sided mattress.

Although you do not have to flip a two-sided mattress, flipping can extend the life of your product and minimize body impressions.

Mr. Mattress has been in the mattress industry since 1964. Trust us. People who've bought a no flip mattress wish they hadn't. They simply don't last. A two-sided mattress is your best value.
